All Kinds of Climate.
A Magnet Puzzle.
Wise Old Capitalism.
No German Worry.

By Arthur Brisbane

Copyright, 1928, by Star Co.

WE HAVE a variegated climate, dogs pulling sleds over Alaska's ice, ladies and their friends flying half-mooned on the sands of Florida, California and the Gulf States.

And the thermometer does not tell anything about weather. New York silvered and growled yesterday at 14 above zero, while Donald McMillan, Arctic explorer, sent word through radio, that he is quite comfortable at Bowdoin, Labrador, with the temperature 55 below zero.

It depends on humidity, elevation, ozone and other things probably of which we know nothing.

If you asked, "Can NOTHING be more powerful than SOMETHING?" You would get no serious answer.

But how do you explain this fact, announced by German science and proved by conviction: experiment? A hollow magnet is more powerful than a solid magnet.

The absence of magnetized metal inside the magnet increases its magnetic strength. A magnet containing four hollow lamellae has as much lifting power as one containing nine solid lamellae.

Everything is possible in chemistry and physics, now that atomic construction and the horrible power and speed of the ray electrons have been added to human knowledge. But that hollow magnet news is a thing to puzzle science.

One advantage is possessed by wise "capitalism," and unknown to bolshevism, revolution, organized labor and the general public. Capitalism is always grateful, never forgets a good turn, rewards friends generously.

Bolshevism exiles Trotsky—and others of Lenin's ablest assistants—to Siberia.

Revolution in France gutted Danton, its ablest man; gutted Robespierre, justly called "the incorruptible" and would have gutted Mirabeau had he not died.

All politicians will tell you "organized labor forgets in a week anything you do for it."

As for the general public, it does not even know who its friends are half the time. It first "forgot," then invented Dewey, because he gave a house to his wife. And it threw Lindbergh's father out of Congress because he was not sufficiently servile to financial interests. But Big Business lives up to its motto, "never go back on your friends."

Germany imported last year more worth a billion dollars more than goods exported. In.

MOTHER, HELD AS KILLER, FAINTS IN COURT

WIFE HELD AS SLAYER FAINTS

Spectators in Roxbury court were moved perceptibly today at the spectacle of a mother whose son was murdered, comforting the wife alleged to have killed him with an axe as he slept in his Roxbury home.

And while Mrs. Elsie Johnson, who first found her son's body, bent every effort to still the sobs of the accused wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson of Freestone street, three of the six boys in the family, the oldest only fifteen, sat alone and crying in a corner of the court.

Mrs. Johnson was held without bail on the charge of slaying her son, William, 17, on the night of Jan. 10. Her counsel, former United States District Attorney Frank J. Gallagher, waived reading of complaint and waived examination. For her, he entered a plea of not guilty.

When the brief session was concluded, the young and comely woman, who once was in the Psychoanalytic Hospital, was so overcome that she had to be supported down the stairs to the car waiting.

Reveals New 'Gland Cure' to Rejuvenate Human Species

Vienna, Jan. 23 (A.P.)—Dr. Karl Doppler, assistant to Dr. Hans Lorenz, Jr., of Vienna, has announced a new method of rejuvenating the human species which he has been lavished in demonstrating before the American Medical Association.

Dr. Doppler says he has evolved a different system from that of "Vitality."

It has to do with supplying more blood to the gland cells.

Managua, Nicaragua, Jan. 23 (A.P.)—Marine reinforcements numbering 1,000 men, including 200 tanks, to take the city of Managua, Nicaragua, from the hands of the Sandinista rebels.

The Marines set out on their march today, and are expected to arrive in Managua within a few days.

HUBBY A 'GOOD TIME' GUY

BUT HAD NO MONEY FOR HER
Mrs. Rose M. Augustine, after telling the judge her husband, Jacob, would not support her, and that she had been evicted because he did not pay the rent, was granted a divorce and custody of her daughter Doris.

A "Good Time Guy" who spent money freely on his friends but refused to support his wife, was granted a divorce after she told the judge that he had not paid the rent for their home for 20 years and that he had evicted her from the home.

HIGHER FARES SEEN IN RETURN OF BOSTON 'L'

Return of the Elevated to double control will result in increased fares, Chairman Henry J. Simmons of the Metropolitan Transit Authority said today in opening a hearing before the Legislative Committee on Street Railways and Transportation Affairs, charged that the Metropolitan was in favor of price control.

HUNT MISSING GIRL IN HUB CHINATOWN ON NEW SECRET TIP

An outstanding development in the search for Frances Smith, John Smith led investigators into Boston's Chinatown today.

Mrs. Irene C. Meakin, Boston detective, is on special duty in the Chinese section of the city who was acting with the mystery as disappearance of the Smith College girl.

11 INJURED, 50 SAVED AT FIRES IN 5 CITIES

A score of Harvard students were forced to flee, one person was killed, a fireman was injured, nine were scorched and more than fifty persons remained in building during today when fires raged in Cambridge and Boston.

BULLETS FLY IN WILD BACK BAY AUTO CHASE

Through traffic-riddled streets and past crowds, where the speed of cars barely missed being slowed over a traffic officer and the owner of a stolen automobile chased the thief today, only to lose him in Fairfield street, Back Bay.

GIRL HURT, 5 BRUISED IN AUTO CRASH

Miss Edna Olson of Dorchester was seriously injured and five companions were shaken up and bruised when the automobile in which they were riding skidded at Middle and Washington streets, Weymouth, rolled down an embankment and turned over twice. The machine, driven by Stewart W. Ross of Pleasant street, Milton, brought up between two trees.

"L" TRAIN STALLS, TRAFFIC DELAYED

A ten-minute delay occurred in the Cambridge-Dorchester line today when a Goodwin-bound train was stalled between South Station and Broadway by the grounding of a motor lead.

HOUSING CONDITIONS IN U. S. ARMY POST 'DISGRACEFUL'

A serious matter for complaint, however, the officers indicated, is that because of the lack of funds for the constantly mounting cost and upkeep of outrageously dilapidated barracks, worn plumbing, leaky roofs, drafty and broken windows, the kind of conditions and broken-down street-cleaning and kitchen ranges, compel them to use up for those purposes the scanty earnings of the poor ex-

EUROPE WOODING PAN-AMERICA FROM U. S.

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND.
Havana, Jan. 22.—The deliciously intoxicating and slightly misleading incense of effusive mutual compliments and flattery beginning to gradually dissipate on soft tropical breezes, the delegates of the sixth Pan-American Congress, after a few days of throwing of bouquets of admiration to one another, are getting down to work. We are beginning to learn what they are thinking in private—aside from what they say for publication.

It is very human to love to hear what you want to hear about your self and have your praises sounded by others, confirming your own self-estimation. There has been a lot of that down here in Havana in the last few days. Everybody has heard the nicest things of themselves from everybody else.

Reflected in the public mirror of the big Spanish language Havana newspapers, you find that the Cubans have discovered that everybody, including America, considers them the "it"—as hosts. And there is a lot more truth in that. The bond that binds South and Central America and the Caribbean Republic to the United States is of gold-made up of strands of sugar, tobacco, coffee, rubber, ideas, words, loans, investments—trade and commerce of mutual advantage.

Culturally and sentimentally, Latin America still leans overwhelmingly toward Europe. The very language of the Pan-American Congress bears witness to this.

SLAIN WIFE IN PAUPER GRAVE

Joppy City, N. J., Jan. 22 (A.P.)—Mrs. Florence Hersey McCall, twenty-one, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hersey of Lawrence, Mass., who was slain January 14 in West New York by her husband, Walter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCall of Genesee, N. Y., is to be buried today in pauper's fold on Laurel Hill, because police announced. Lieutenant David Hanger of West New York said Mrs. McCall's father identified her body in Hoboken last week, but neither he nor any one else had claimed the body.

CONGRESSMAN ANDREWS CALLS ON GOV. FULLER

'PUT YOUR BOY IN NAVY!' SAYS SEC. WILBUR

Send your boy to the Navy if you want to send him to college, Secretary of the Navy Curtis Wilbur said today in a gathering of the Navy Club of Massachusetts today.

The naval secretary was the guest of honor, and among the orators were Governor and Mr. Alvan T. Fuller and William M. Butler, chairman of the National Republican Committee, with Mrs. Butler.

"In no other school could such expensive and modern apparatus be utilized. In what other school could 200 young men have $45,000,000 worth of apparatus put into their hands for practical utilization as on board the Lexington or Saratoga?"

"Referring to the aims of the navy, the secretary said:

"We wish always for peace, but we believe in training for war as a training for citizenship in time of peace."

The courteous, loyal and fidelity of the men in the navy was emphasized by Secretary Wilbur, who paid a tribute to the divers who worked on the sunken fleet, particularly Michaels and Zacher.

BARES VISITS WITH MAN IN TESTIMONY

Testimony covering surveillance over a period from March 4, 1922, into the following May, showing Mrs. Maude A. Doane of Brookline in the company of Charles G. Tate almost daily, was given by a woman operative of the Crawford Detective Agency in the resumed separate support hearing of Mrs. Doane against George B. Doane, in Norfolk Probate Court today.

Doane, wealthy Brookline yachtsman, has named Tate in contesting the suit, which has had many hearings, and Mrs. Doane in turn named Mrs. Florence M. Denmore. The hearing is before Judge Joseph H. McCool.

The woman detective, reading from notes, told of shadowing Mrs. Doane and Tate, giving a day by day account of their meetings, many of which she testified were in the man's apartment on Boston street.

On March 4 she said she trailed Mrs. Doane from her home on Commonwealth avenue to Tate's apartment, where after a wait of two hours she emerged and entered Tate's parked automobile. At 10:30 the witness said Tate's car arrived in the rear of the Doane apartment house, remaining one-half hour when Mrs. Doane left it and entered the house by a rear door.

The remainder of the witness' testimony was along the same lines and took up nearly the entire morning session.

BIRTH CONTROL PLAYING HAVOC WITH STORK TRADE

TEACHER SEEKS TO 'CLEAR' HIS MARRIAGE

Darien Conn. Jan. 22 (A.P.)—That his matrimonial status may be determined, he having married recently, and holding the opinion that a marriage ceremony performed in 1921 was "illegal," James L. Young, Jr., high school teacher here, today stated that he had secured counsel to investigate charges made against him of which he had only newspaper knowledge.

Young resumed his classroom in the Darien High School today, as did Mrs. Young, whom he married here in November. Records show that he married Miss Helena A. Dennick of Timonium, Me., at Portsmouth, N. H., on October 21, 1921.

Young today, in his first formal statement said: "Feeling that an explanation is due the people of Darien concerning articles about me I wish them to know that I have requested counsel to investigate fully the charges made against me and to take steps to exonerate me. It is understood that Young has retained a Hartford, Me., attorney to represent him. The Darien school committee, having heard a statement from Young, has decided to take no action being unaware of any charges brought against the teacher. It instructed both Mr. and Mrs. Young to continue their school work."

FREE STATE EXECUTIVES WHO ARE VISITING PRESIDENT COOLIDGE TODAY
Fresh from a remarkable ovation tendered them in Chicago, President William T. Cosgrave of the Irish Free State and his official party today visited Washington. Among features of the sojourn in the nation's capital was a call on President Coolidge.

FETE COSGRAVE IN CAPITAL: WILL VISIT COOLIDGE

Washington, Jan. 23 (A.P.)—Greetings reserved for foreign executives were accorded William T. Cosgrave, President of the Irish Free State, when he arrived in Washington today from Chicago.

William R. Castle, Jr., Assistant Secretary of State, officially welcomed President Cosgrave on behalf of the government. Timothy A. Sullivan, Irish Minister, accompanied Mr. Cosgrave.

Other officials to greet the Irish President were Frederick Stantley, American Minister to Ireland, and William J. H. Murray, First Secretary of the Free State Legation.

A detachment of crack cavalrymen escorted the Irish executive through downtown streets to the hotel where he will stay during his four-day visit in Washington.

President Cosgrave's schedule called for his official rounds of calls to be given with a visit to the Free State Legation, then luncheon with William J. Donovan, assistant to the Attorney General, and a visit to Secretary of State Kellogg late this afternoon.

President Coolidge will receive Mr. Cosgrave at 5 o'clock at the White House. The evening President Cosgrave will call upon Vice-President Dawes, Chief Justice Taft and Speaker Clegg.

His first day will end with a dinner by Vincent Massey, Canadian Minister, at the Canadian Legation. Irish officials of the government have been invited to meet the Irish President.

Tomorrow's program calls for a trip to Arlington National Cemetery, where Mr. Cosgrave will place a wreath on the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, luncheon at the White House, and dinner at the Irish Legation.

President Cosgrave will visit Mr. Vernon and the House and Senate on Wednesday. That evening Secretary Kellogg will give a dinner in his honor at the Pan-American Union.

Sir Esmé Howard, British Ambassador, will have a dinner for him Thursday. Mr. Cosgrave will leave Washington Friday morning for Philadelphia.

Dublin Sees Help for Trade in Cosgrave Tour
Dublin, Ireland, Jan. 23 (A.P.)—

Hero Dog Dies in Fire After Barks Save Family

Atton, Jan. 22.—An aged English setter, too feeble to go afield, drew to his final point in the home of George Grant here today.

A keen sense that sought out many quail in the stable found shortly after midnight an ardent settler. The dog barked and barked a warning to Mr. and Mrs. Grant and their three children.

Grant found the house in flames, passed the children out a first-floor window to his wife and children out of the door. The fire spread quickly, destroying the house, and after a while, when the smoke thickened in the kitchen where he was sleeping, the dog ceased to bark.

Public business men today thought that President William T. Cosgrave's address in Chicago Saturday would facilitate Irish trade with the United States.

They also welcomed the appointment of Hugh Butler as trade commission attached to the American Legation here. Butler is recognized as an authority on Irish trade relations.

Many good Irish wines and a few hundred sales are offered every day in Boston American Classified Ads. See Classification 150.

LINDY IN STUNT FLIGHT OVER CANAL ZONE

France Field, Cristobal, Canal Zone, Jan. 22 (A.P.)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh took off today in the Spirit of St. Louis on a test flight, carrying him over the various army posts in the Canal Zone.

Lindbergh descended after more than an hour in the air. To the great delight of the crowds, which had gathered to watch him, just before coming down he did some stunts that thrilled the watchers.

Detroit, Jan. 23 (A.P.)—Reports from Cristobal that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh is on the verge of a successful breakdown were cheerily greeted as "foolish rumors" here today by his mother, Mrs. Evangeline L. Lindbergh.

"I am sure he is perfectly all right and it is nonsense to think otherwise," Mrs. Lindbergh said. "In the first place Charles is not at all of a nervous temperament."

When I saw him Christmas I said I am about current reports that his health was not what it should be, and he laughed at the idea."

1,000 MARINES MOVE TO FRONT IN NICARAGUA

troops furnished an imposing spectacle for Nicaraguans as hundreds of oxen loaded with supplies and ammunition passed out of the city.

The Nicaraguans were especially interested in the 192 American mules which recently were disembarked at Corinto and brought to Leon, the Nicaraguan mule being decidedly smaller than his American brother.

With machine trucks columns of troops, and official cars in steady procession through the city assumed a distinctively warlike appearance.

The Nicaraguan government authorities have received reports that a considerable number of men from the east coast have been passing the Acopala headquarters of the Rama River on their way to join Sandoz's forces. These men, according to this report, are armed with rifles formerly owned by the government.

American Sailor Kills 3 Nicaraguans to Save Mate

Managua, Nicaragua, Jan. 13 (A.P.)—Three Nicaraguans were killed today in a fierce fight near Granada with an American sailor and a mariner who had attempted to come to the rescue of a fourth Nicaraguan being hauled to death by machine guns.

L. E. Newton, United States Navy, killed three Nicaraguans after his companion, Harold L. Crowell, first sergeant, United States Marine Corps, had been attacked and severely cut on the hands with machetes by his assailants.

In the account of the fight, the men said that they were hurrying near Granada when they suddenly came upon three men, attacking a fourth with machetes. They dismounted with the intent of disarming the attackers and the three Nicaraguans, who by this time had killed the fourth, turned on the Americans.

Through Euter street and across Boylston the car roared, shaking back of east-bound machines and first clearing the bumper of cars rolling westward.

The thief whirled left into Newbury street and, ostensibly, skidded the Cuban car into Fairfield. A public safety officer refused, and raked up over the curb of the narrow driveway and stopped hard on the gas button.

But the young man had hardly glimpsed him, and the officer shot again and again as the daring driver following made just as skillful a turn.

The thief had too great a soul, however, and he crumpled the Cuban car in the narrow way, as that the following car could not pass, pulled on the horn and snapped the motor end run.

He had discouraged by the time the pursuing trio were out of their car and on foot.

HAVE KIDNEYS EXAMINED BY YOUR DOCTOR

Flush your kidneys by drinking 2 quart of water each day, also take salts occasionally, says a noted authority, who tells us that too much rich food forms acids which almost paralyze the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken; then you may suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick stomach, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

KING OF R. I. BOOTLEGS

JAILED FOR TWO YEARS

Providence, Jan. 23 (A.P.)—One headlined as "King of the Rhode Island bootleggers," Samuel Band of Central Falls will serve within the next few days for the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta to serve a two-year sentence for conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act.

The United States Court of Appeals at Boston today forwarded to the Federal Court here a mandate confirming the conviction of Band. His sentence also includes a $1,000 fine.

The police have not wholly eliminated Mrs. Guilefoyle from the case and she is still being held on a breach of the peace charge in the case because as a natural witness, but Hickey says he is satisfied that the woman was not in a position to do the shooting.

A warrant charging first degree murder will be served on Guilefoyle when he is discharged from Hartford hospital. He will probably see the sight of one eye.

MISSING A WEEK

Collin Walsh, Jr., of Waterbury, 11 years old, is being sought by police. He left home, No. 25 Acton street, a week ago. He wore a dark overcoat, brown boots and a knitted cap.

DEL RIO TO STAR WITH UNITED

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

Los Angeles, Jan. 23—Joseph Del Rio isn't posing for pictures with stars unless he means business—he's far too busy a man. Therefore, when a photographer snapped him talking to Dolores del Rio, he at once put our listening ear to the ground to investigate the reason for the photograph.

It means, as soon as Miss Del Rio finishes "The Hot Sister of Mexico" for Fox, she will become a part of the United Artists' organization. Of course, as the star of Dolores Del Rio's "Ransom," to be released by United Artists, Miss Del Rio is already listed as a U. A. favorite. She has been under contract to the same kind, Mr. Mayer has assigned Lawrence Sullivan, author of "The Big Parade" and "What Price Glory," to write a sequel, Mr. Staudenmann will call his movie "The Rites Have Landed." Lon Chaney, who played a hard-boiled detective in "The Man Who Knew Too Much," will play a recruit in the Marines, will again have the leading role.

One of these stars that are based around Hollywood and repeated at this time and that is Miss Dolores Del Rio. This picture is one of the M-G-M's favorite director, David W. Griffith, to be released about the season. If you still pardon the stage, because of this glowing reputation and because exhibitors are asking for more of the same kind, Mr. Mayer has assigned Lawrence Sullivan, author of "The Big Parade" and "What Price Glory," to write a sequel, Mr. Staudenmann will call his movie "The Rites Have Landed." Lon Chaney, who played a hard-boiled detective in "The Man Who Knew Too Much," will play a recruit in the Marines, will again have the leading role.

Florida Week-Ends for Business Men Via Air

Tampa, Fla., Jan. 23 (A.P.)—

"Within a year, New York business men will week-end in Florida during the winter," was the prediction of Eddie Sloan, Bernat airplane manufacturer and pilot, who made a round trip of 1,000 miles from Chicago in seven hours and fifty-five minutes with two passengers.

"In a year," said Sloan, "a man flying across the continent will be no more a novelty than it was to take the first automobile ride 25 years ago."

CONFIDENCE

When Women Buy Products because they are Advertised in Good Housekeeping

WHEN EVERYWOMAN buys advertised goods she asks by name for the products that have won her faith.

Along with the familiar trade names she mentions—that of a frock, hosiery, perfume, food or furniture—another name rings out . . . GOOD HOUSEKEEPING.

GOOD HOUSEKEEPING has become both a family word and a store word because throughout forty-two years it has been not only a magazine that furnishes supreme entertainment and service, but also a powerful link between home and shop—a creator of confidence between buyer and seller, consumer and manufacturer.

"I want the _____ brand, I see that GOOD HOUSEKEEPING guarantees it," is said many thousand times a day by women to merchants all over the land.

"If GOOD HOUSEKEEPING endorses it I'll stock it," says the retailer to the manufacturer, knowing how many women in his neighborhood are predisposed to buy products advertised in GOOD HOUSEKEEPING.

"CONFIDENCE TRADE" is the term by which the retailer refers to this preferred class of business. It reveals itself in the women who will not take substitutes for the products displayed in the magazine she trusts—it shows itself in the woman who has faith enough to order the goods she wants by telephone, without seeing them, or who will send her child or maid to buy the products advertised in and guaranteed by GOOD HOUSEKEEPING.

Ten or twenty years ago CONFIDENCE TRADE was unknown.

CONFIDENCE in a manufacturer had not been established. The shopping world was a jungle in which the slogan "let the buyer beware" seemed to justify shoddy merchandise and impure foods.

It was then that an aroused business conscience, with GOOD HOUSEKEEPING playing its part, began to work for HONEST GOODS HONESTLY SOLD. In this building up of CONFIDENCE between buyer and seller GOOD HOUSEKEEPING has led.

The advertising influence of GOOD HOUSEKEEPING has kept pace with its powerful editorial influence because as much responsibility is felt by its publishers for its advertisements as for its editorial contents.

Here, specifically, are some of the GOOD HOUSEKEEPING services that have created CONFIDENCE TRADE.

—GOOD HOUSEKEEPING Studio of Furnishings and Decorations (Helen Kouss, Director), which shows EVERYWOMAN how to plan rooms that give comfort, livableness, charm.

—GOOD HOUSEKEEPING'S Fashion Department from which EVERYWOMAN gets in advance not only the authentic Paris fashions, but also learns which trademarked clothes, dresses, hats, shoes, are dependable for style and wear and are obtainable throughout the country under their trademark.

—the GOOD HOUSEKEEPING Bureau of Foods, Sanitation and Health (Dr. Harvey W. Wiley and Dr. Walter H. Eddy, Directors), which guides EVERYWOMAN in the purchase of safe foods, drugs and toilet preparations; —GOOD HOUSEKEEPING Institute (Katharine A. Fisher, Director). It tests new ways of cooking; it makes dishes more certain; it invents more appetizing menus and meals; it tries out labor-saving household devices, and finds better ways of home management.

—and last and all-embracing, the money-back guarantee covering every product advertised in GOOD HOUSEKEEPING.

Is it any wonder that GOOD HOUSEKEEPING'S million and a half readers are CONFIDENCE BUYERS whose trade manufacturers covet?

TO know how fully alert manufacturers appreciate the trust of GOOD HOUSEKEEPING'S readers in its editorial and advertising pages, read that Blue Book of American Merchandise embodied in the Index of Advertisements of every issue of GOOD HOUSEKEEPING.

SALE TROOPERS SEARCH ROOMS OF COLLEGE FOR MISSING GIRL

NEED BACK PATROLES BY SCOUTS

Ref that an "up and down" passage existed between Clark and Boston House was without foundation.

SEARCH PARADISE POND.

This belief, which has been widely spread, and is repeated in stories about an old fireplace and curious shaped chimney in Boston House. The chimney there extends a foot below the fireplace in an unusual formation. The fireplace has been a hollowed out place for a long time for children who looked in the "light."

Paradise Pond again was searched and nearly every acre of the sixty acres of college grounds were covered. The pond was searched, and was very popular with the college girls. It was discovered, from the hotel a short time before the wealthy freshman disappeared, that there was a police division, he was an inmate of the Northampton State Hospital for the insane.

START SEARCH IN HUD.

A report that he was seen in Boston brought Smith and private detective to the scene. The search was made, but does not believe the hotel man is connected with Miss Smith's disappearance. State Detective Joseph V. Daley believes he might furnish some clue to the girl's actions or state of mind just before she dropped from sight.

Investigators today expressed astonishment at the recently planned robbery of the second "letter" addressed by the father of St. John Smith, New York broker, to the missing girl.

This letter follows:

"Dearest Frances:

"We want you to know that we are thinking of nothing but your safety and happiness.

"If you are safe and well, we make a different life for yourself we do not want to interfere, but to help if we can.

"But we want to know if you are safe. Won't you write to me as soon as you can, or M. T. to say that you are safe? They will see that you are safe and respected and your wishes carried out.

"We want to care for you and know that you are safe.

"We got through the day only because we hope every hour to hear from you.

"With deepest love,

"Mother and Father."

The first patriotic "letter" was signed only by Miss Smith. It was dated at the missing girl's home in "England" or near there. It was found in touch with two relatives at the Smith home in New York.

Now, this second signed request the girl to communicate with "Aunt Sule or M. T." When the girl was now pending, should Miss Smith's relatives appear to her to communicate with any person other than her own family.

The entire correspondence of the new annual, police pointed out, was not the fact of the strange case have been made available to them.

Northampton is crowded with anxious parents, who are left to see that their daughters were safe and to warn them against leaving the college, particularly at night.

It is an open secret that not only the college authorities but Governor Fuller has been equipped with letters from anxious mothers and fathers asking if their daughters were safe at Smith. It was these letters and the anxiety of the college board that induced Governor Fuller to bring Commissioner of Public Safety from into the case.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified crocodile that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat trouble. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, the absorbed into the blood, checks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded in any case or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

Lindy Praises Skill of Army Man Who Built Baby Plane

Colon. Canal Zone, Jan. 23 (A.P.)—The greatest airplane manufacturer in the world today is Private Harry Durant of Lincoln, N. H., who built the American army aviation plane at France Field.

For months, Durant, an army mechanic, has been building a baby plane with wings of wood and a fuselage of 15 feet, and one light it can almost be lifted by one man.

When Col. Lindbergh returned here today he examined the baby plane carefully and complimented Durant on his skill.

He carried forward eight, one of $1,000 and offering to Durant George Hogan and Shandean the opportunity to buy more planes.

Hogan discovered the plane and showed the interested occupants of the apartments.

SUNDAY SPORTS UNFAIR, SAYS DR. WYLIE

It is unfair to postpone business to Sunday sports and parties to function on Sunday the Rev. David G. Wylie, D. D., president of the Lord's Day Alliance of the United States, told members of the Lord's Day League in St. Paul's Cathedral today.

"There are many agencies at work at the present time," said Dr. Wylie, "to break down our Sunday laws. There is a widespread attempt to commercialize Sunday and because of the rest the people enjoy on that day these agencies seek Sunday as a day for money making."

The movement to commercialize Sunday is, however, he declared, adding that all time organizations have six days and even more in which to make money.

All the states of the Union, as well as one or two of the District of Columbia, have Sunday laws," he declared, "and this is a sign that when we remember that we have in the habit of doing more of church and state and desire new laws, we are free church in a free state."

In conclusion Dr. Wylie told his hearers:

"Everyone, however, who respects the spirit of the laws must have."

Belasco Sees Passing of 'Seamy Side' Drama

New York, Jan. 23 (A.P.)—David Belasco, noted playwright, writing in the New York American today predicts that the present age of realism in art, literature and the drama will stay as the people of that time to be followed by a vague that will deal only with happiness and sweetness.

Mr. Belasco points out that art, literature and the drama of the preceding decades were true of their own day as the people of that day looked upon life.

He attributed the present realism to the World War and advancement of science. The war, he said, brought to attention the seamy side of life, and science tought a contempt for nothing that will not permit us to blind ourselves to those unpleasant facts.

He recalled that a revival of two of the biggest stage successes of the villain and the helpless appeals of the heroine.

"I could appreciate why the public laughed," he said, "because my viewpoint had changed, too, naturally. But that is no reflection of the intelligence of the audience when such plays brought no laughter. It is merely that we looked on life differently in those days."

What we are in a great battle which will become sharper, fiercer, deadlier and we must fight to the end. We have a good cause, God is with us and we will gain the victory. Let us stand shoulder to shoulder, more united than ever before, and go forward in our battle for the Lord."

WARREN OFFICIALS IN GAMBLING CASE

Providence, Jan. 23 (A.P.)—Francis J. Higgins, member of the Warren school committee, and Joseph J. Monahan of Taunton, Mass., pleaded guilty today to a charge of conspiracy to place a gambling machine in Warren, Edward Dillane, member of the Warren town council, pleaded not guilty to the same charge and was placed on trial.

PLUNKETT SAYS HE DID NOT PREDICT A WAR

New York, Jan. 23 (A.P.)—The New York Times today quotes Rear Admiral Charles P. Plunkett, commander of the Brooklyn Navy Yard, as denying he predicted war with Great Britain.

"I don't remember what I did say," the Times quotes the Admiral as saying. "You got the record. You will see what I said and you will get the record even with my remarks were taken down stenographically."

"I am not in the habit of predicting war. Preparedness in my mind and in the mind of all other Navy and Army men, leads to peace and not to war."

B. & M. PETITION WINS AFTER BITTER FIGHT

By a vote of 149 to 5, the House of Representatives today suspended its rules and admitted the petition of the Boston & Maine Railroad seeking to broaden its charter to care for the new North Station depositories.

The action was fought bitterly by Representative James J. Twombly of South Boston, who secured the road for trying to go into the street and office building business, he shared the matter would go to the Supreme Court, and predicted its eventual increase of fares.

MISS MARY HARWOOD DIES IN WINTHROP

Miss Mary Louise Harwood, 24, died at Wintthrop, Mass., today. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Harwood of Wintthrop. She was a member of the Wintthrop High School and was a member of the Wintthrop High School. She was a member of the Wintthrop High School and was a member of the Wintthrop High School.

Miss Harwood, whose father is a Boston newspaperman, was born in Wintthrop, September 27, 1903. She attended the Wintthrop public schools until her family moved to Wintthrop in 1918. She then entered the high school but did not graduate. She was graduated with honors in the class of 1921.

In addition to her parents Miss Harwood is survived by two sisters, Gladys L. and Ruth M. Harwood. Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at the Church of the Holy Trinity in Wintthrop.

MARTHA LEE'S PAGE OF NEW COOKING IDEAS

Make Hash Attractive

"PASS EVERYTHING!" was the request of my young nephew one evening as he looked pointedly and superciliously at the dish of hash. Of course he was right—but perhaps he was justified. For in spite of the fact that the homely mixture known as hash is very satisfying on occasions it is not always presented in a tempting form, nor is the preparation sufficiently varied.

The same materials may be used in many different ways, with the result that you avoid the boredom of preparing the same dishes—and your family retains their interest in the meals arranged for them.

The next time you have cold meats and left-over roasted potatoes turn them into an appetizing one-plate meal by making a very famous dish—Shepherd's Pie. There are a number of recipes for this dish, but the one given here is best adapted for the economical use of re-cooked materials.

Take 3 small onions, whole cloves, small chunks of cold mutton (about 2 cups), 2 cups mashed potatoes, 1 cup, grated onion, 2 eggs, 1/2 cup, salt, 1/2 cup, pepper, 1 pt. water or stock, 1 lb. prepared mustard.

Put the three onions stick a whole clove in each and boil them evenly in the bottom of a baking dish surrounded the mutton with small chunks of cold mutton over the top of the sauce given above mixed as any other sauce.

The sauce should nearly but not quite cover the meat. Put enough mashed potato over the top to make a thick crust and spread with a little butter; cook in a hot oven until the potato and the brown puffing through.

A Rarebit Recipe

THIS is the season of long evenings, theatres and movies, radio parties and bridge. It is also the season of earlier dinners and late suppers.

You are consequently looking for quickly prepared dishes that may refresh your guests and lend the correct finishing touch to the evening's entertainment.

Wheat Rarebit is a never failing dish for such an occasion. But there are varying degrees of tastefulness in rarebits, just as in any other dish. Poorly made rarebit is heavy and flat tasting. Properly made, it ceases to be merely food and becomes an artistic creation.

The crucial points in making a rarebit are the lightness of the sauce, and the seasoning. If your cheese is particularly dry it will be necessary to use more liquid than the recipe indicates and you must be sure to secure a smooth texture by careful mixing. In the matter of seasoning it has been found that prepared mustard, with its mixture of spices, proves an excellent blend with the cheese and gives to the rarebit a delicate and appetizing flavor.

The following recipe has been tested and found to be unusually successful. One pound American cheese, 1/2 cup milk, 1/2 cup, salt, 1 beaten egg, dash of paprika, 2 cups, prepared mustard, 1 tsp. butter.

Grate the cheese, melt in the top of a double-boiler, add butter, salt, paprika, add milk and then the well-beaten egg very slowly, stirring constantly and when ready to serve add the prepared mustard. Serve at once on hot toast or crackers.

Grandma's old fashioned

A Saturday Supper

WHEN I'm counting my blessings I don't forget to be thankful that I live in New England and can look forward to my Saturday night beans and bread and butter with confidence.

The rapidity with which this traditional meal can be prepared now, today, however, would be a great shock to grandmothers, whose bread oven had to be heated all Friday night by burning wood. Today, certain brands of really baked beans rival grandmother's own.

As for canned bread, I can't say too much for the deliciousness and convenience of our favorite kind. Warm it, butter, served steaming hot and of the modest deliciousness which has made New England bread famous, the modern canned bread might well cause grandmother to shed tears for the lost hours devoted to the Saturday steaming.

Here's a short cut to a delicious Saturday night supper. Heat the contents of a can of beans in a glass casserole in a hot oven (about an hour) they are well heated. Slice canned bread and butter. Put pedigreed frankfurts—on know them by their tags—in a saucer of cold water and set aside to boil.

Serve with the beans, brown bread, still sauce or sweet relish and fragrant hot coffee. Who could ask more?

It takes one hour to cook and serve all people.

For Family Supper

THE Epicure's Notebook suggests the following dishes for the family supper:

Savory Codfish Cakes—One cup salt codfish, three cups mashed potatoes, one tablespoon butter, one egg, one teaspoon chopped onion, one tablespoon prepared mustard.

Soak the fish in lukewarm water until it can be separated easily into flakes. Pick into fine pieces, cover with cold water, bring to simmering point. Drain and add to the potato. Add butter and beaten egg and mix thoroughly, adding a little milk if the mixture is not moist enough.

Add onion and prepared mustard. Shape into flat cakes and brown in a little hot fat in a frying pan or make into balls and fry in deep fat. Salmon Loaf—One can salmon (three), four tablespoons melted butter, one cup fine bread crumbs, 1/2 cup, one teaspoon prepared mustard, one teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon pepper, two teaspoons chopped parsley, one cup boiled vegetables.

Chop salmon, add butter, bread crumbs, eggs and seasonings. Mix and pour into greased mold. Steam one hour. Turn out, garnish with vegetables and parsley and serve with white sauce.

It takes one hour to cook and serve all people.

Lesson by a Chef

IT'S encouraging to know that Boston will soon have a new huge auditorium, for we will certainly need it to accommodate the ever-increasing numbers of progressive New England housewives who make a regular visit to the Martha Lee Kitchen every Wednesday, which is always observed as Chef's Day.

Next Wednesday, Jan. 25, Charles Bertram, chef of the Hotel Touraine since 1917, will give the weekly lesson, so here's a wonderful opportunity for those of you who have marveled at the delicious and unusual dishes served at the Hotel Touraine to see exactly how some of them are made.

Mr. Bertram was born in Italy and received his early training in the culinary art in the best hotels of Italy and France. Today he is as famous on the other side of the water as on this.

Mr. Bertram opened the culinary department of the Hotel Touraine thirty years ago. In 1917, with a brigade of thirty-five cooks, and the reputation which he has built up for the cuisine of this hotel is the most emphatic testimonial to his skill and art.

Don't miss the lesson that will be given by this expert in the Martha Lee Kitchen at 2 Winterport square, next Wednesday afternoon, at 2:30 p.m., January 25.

A Menu for One Day

HERE is a reasonable day's menu:

BREAKFAST—Grapefruit French omelet, crisp toast, milk or coffee. LUNCHEON OR SUPPER—Tuna fish for cold cooked fish, chicken or turkey, celery and apple salad, baking powder biscuits, hot cocoa, cake.

DINNER—Cream of mushroom soup, lamb pie, cranberry jelly, graham bread, apple sauce and ginger cookies. GRAHAM OR MUSHROOM SOUP—One tsp. butter, 1/2 lb. mushrooms, chopped fine, 1 cup of water or stock, 1 qt. of hot milk (flour to thicken), seasoning.

Cook the mushrooms, butter and water or stock for five minutes. Add the hot milk and flour to thicken. Season.

Recommended for the Fall Appetite The epicure's notebook recommends baked beans for the Fall appetite. Take one quart beans, one-half to one pound bacon, one tablespoon salt, one-third teaspoon pepper, one tablespoon prepared mustard, one-quarter cup brown sugar or molasses, one cup water. Soak beans at 2 Winterport square, next Wednesday afternoon, at 2:30 p.m., with warm water. Wash again. Put bean with other ingredients.

beans in beanpot. Bake slowly. Take six to eight hours, low heat.

Lobster for Epicure

THE epicure's notebook contains this recipe for a delicious luncheon dish:

MERRYMOUNT LOBSTER—One cup thin cream (or rich milk), 1/2 cup soft bread crumbs, 1/2 cup lobster meat, 1 egg, 1/2 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon brown juice, few drops of onion juice, 1/2 teaspoon salt, dash cayenne, 1 tablespoon butter, 1/2 cup buttered cracker crumbs.

Heat cream or milk almost to boiling point. Add bread crumbs and lobster meat, cut fine. Heat slightly and mix mustard with it. Add to the first mixture and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add remaining seasonings and the butter. Put in scallop shells or ramekins, cover with buttered crumbs and bake until crumbs are brown. The time in cooking is about 10 minutes and the recipe makes six servings.

The rainbow of step-saving suds has a Chipso box at each end

A host of women we know have discovered a way to save steps, and it doesn't cost a penny more. Would you like to know the secret? They keep 2 boxes of Chipso in use at the same time, so they never have to say, "Where is that box of Chipso?"

You see, when the 25c box (big enough to dip a cup into) is by the washtub or washing machine... and another box stands by the kitchen sink... Chipso's work-saving suds are right within hand's reach for clothes or dishes whenever you want them.

If you have happened to use Chipso's white flakes only to get through dishes 1/3 quicker, you still have the remarkable surprise of a Chipso washday before you! There is no drudgery in it... no rub-rub-rub... no muggy boiling! Even play clothes and work clothes need only a safe Chipso-soaking.

The most amazing success in the history of household soap

Dishes in 1/3 less time

Quickly-clean dishes this way. If you let Chipso suds clean your dishes by soaking the grease off, you can spare your hands from dish water and gain a new half-hour every day. For the Chipso method is 1/3 quicker!

QUICK SUDS—at the touch of hot water

QUICK SUDS—at the touch of hot water

Soaks clothes clean

If you leave your clothes in Chipso's fine, safe suds for 20 minutes or so, the dirt will be ready to drop out! Soaking the suds through the clothes gets them clean! Spots and soiled edges may need light hand-rubbing. Rinse. Wring. And washday's through!

THE BOSTON AMERICAN'S PLATFORM FOR BOSTON AND NEW ENGLAND

For BOSTON: 1—Clean streets.
2—Solution of traffic and parking problems.
3—Better pay for honest public service.
4—An airport SECOND TO NONE.
5—Erection of a MUNICIPAL AUDITORIUM to compare with any in the land, in order that Boston, properly supplied with first-class hotels, may be the premier convention city of the U. S. A.

For NEW ENGLAND: 1—Weld the six States into a unit through the activities of the New England Council, thus creating a community consciousness.
2—Promote intercourse with Central and South America, encouraging New Englanders to "turn to the sea" again.

3—Keeping everlastingly at the job of telling the rest of the country all about our unique advantages as Summer and Winter Playground of the Nation.
4—Foster the prosperity of our industries through (1) greater efficiency in production and (2) the use of modern methods in merchandising.
5—Promote in every way such natural resources as forests, water powers and fisheries.
6—Assist New England agriculture to better marketing methods.

Why Not Take THIS Tattered Ensign Down?

It Appears That Civic Pride Would Dictate That the Flag at City Hall Should Be Lowered at Sunset and Otherwise Generally Respected

Speaking of Betsy Ross, Barbara Freiliche, Oliver Wendell Holmes, and one thing and another, how about the flag on the Boston City Hall?

If ever there was a tattered ensign, the taxpayers of the city are sponsoring one now.

It is really a delicate matter about which to write. May chance the man whose duty it is to raise the Star Spangled Banner each sunrise over the municipal Capitol has a wife and several children. Perhaps he should not be brought into the fierce glare of publicity. But still and all, the flag on the Boston City Hall flies continuously, in fair weather and foul.

Military regulations require that it should be raised at sunup and lowered at sundown. Offhand, a dweller in a nearby building reports that, since December 1, the flag has flown practically continuously.

True, it was placed at half-staff in respect to the memory of ex-Mayor Nathan Matthews. True, one day last week a custodian labored for an hour with the refractory bairns. But, broadly speaking, the National emblem flies 24 hours a day. It is soot-stained and wind-torn. It is a sorry example of the banner under which patriots have fought since the days of 1776.

The city budget calls for this and that ambitious project. It might not be amiss to make ample financial provision for the purchase of one Grand and Glorious American Flag and one custodian for same who should tend it against the inclemencies of the weather.

Indian Fighters

A Petition to Beacon Hill

What is the average age of the members of the legislative Committee on Social Welfare?

Are they old enough to have read Ned Buntline? Do they know all about Texas Jack, Rain-in-the-Face, Geronimo and Sitting Bull? Did Pa ever give them a good switching when a Beadle's Dime novel fell from under their blouses?

Or are they mere juveniles, whose "Westerns" in the movies and the magazines, contain many a red varmint but are poor pale chronicles of dudes and cowboys and pretty school teachers and "Lazy B" brands and ranches?

If we knew, we might venture an intelligent guess at the fate of the bill introduced by Senator William L. Hennessey of Dorchester for the relief of Massachusetts veterans of any number of Indian wars.

These Bay State fighting-men, who helped to open up the West to railroad, commercial traveler and settler, are said to number about two hundred, more than half of them veterans of the Civil War and the War with Spain. Life in life—the youngest is past threescore years and ten—they ask the Commonwealth for the pension privileges that have been bestowed so freely upon the veterans of other wars.

That there is merit in the claim of these warriors will not be disputed. Their cause will receive prompt and friendly consideration if the members of the committee date back to the 1870's and the 1880's and know what it is to have read one's self to sleep on tales of scalping and torture.

The Parked Car

Fraught With Danger

Nine out of ten of the young girls who bring their troubles to the Boston home of the Florence Crittenton League, according to Miss Alice G. Albee, educational secretary, say the parked car played an important part in their misfortunes.

This is not an argument in favor of abolishing the automobile—although if they are logical the champions of the Eighteenth Amendment would say that it is—but it IS an argument in favor of fathers and mothers working more diligently at the job of BEING fathers and mothers.

There is too much loose and foolish talk nowadays about liberty and "this new freedom."

Girls of tender years should not be permitted to ride out with young men unaccompanied by other members of the family. To allow such excursions is to run the gravest risk. ONE way to escape trouble and possible disgrace is to provide the family with a car of its own. To do so THIS year will call for no greater sacrifice than was made thirty years ago in order to buy the first piano.

Men Dislike Killing

1,000 Zlato's Per Hanging

Dislike of the death penalty spreads gradually over the earth. Men no longer enjoy killing other men. "Just for the fun of it," at least in Western countries. When men from the North captured Rome they threw women and children out of the windows to hear the noise they made, torturing men to make them confess where they had hidden their treasure. Some savages still enjoy killing, torturing. Civilized men do not.

New Poland abolishes shooting as a death penalty because soldiers object to being made executioners. Even hangmen don't LIKE their job, and looking around for new hangmen, Poland raises the fee for such hanging from 100 to 1,000 zlotys, or about $112.80.

Br-r-r-r!

STRANGENESS OF COMMON SENSE

By DR. FRANK CRANE

WHEN President Coolidge tersely announced that he did not choose to run, there were exactly 455,000,000 explanations of the statement given out by the politicians.

They thought he meant everything but what he said. The idea of a man talking and saying just what he meant was unheard of.

Common sense and simple honesty are so rare in the political world that when we meet them in the street we do not recognize them.

Then the other day John G. Lodge, grandnephew of Colonel Charles Lindbergh, was elected Mayor of Detroit. He declined to make any speeches and he gave out no statements to the press. Neither did he make any promises to anybody. In fact, he took no part in the campaign, directly or indirectly. He simply said: "The people know my record of forty years' service for the city. That is my platform."

He seemed to have the strong idea that the best qualification for filling office is being able to discharge the duties of that office instead of being a good speech-maker or shill-bellied jurgler, busy kisser or hand-shaker. If this sort of thing is to continue what will become of the politicians? We are so used to juggling popular abuses, fanning false jingoism and other antics of that ilk that a man stands out when he simply says, I can do the business and if you want me I will take the job and if you don't want me you can go soak your head.

Rare as this common sense is, however, there are a few who appreciate it and look with satisfaction upon the election. Mr. Lodge is Mayor of Detroit. We hope and pray, also, that like example may spread, for we have had about enough of "running for office," making pleas, shaking hands, kissing babies and all that sort of thing. It is about time we saw the office running for the man.

It has always been characteristic of real ability that it should be sought for and not that it should hunt around for a job, and the idea of a man going out with a brass band trying to get an office is hardly as satisfactory as a man actually doing his work and having the office come to him.

Big West, Big Men

Size Isn't Everything, However

SOME UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON "BOYS"

The West is a great country and it turns out fine young men. Here are five of eight young men of the University of Washington, anxious to row on the crew next year. Every one of these "boys" is well over six feet tall. One of them stands six feet six inches, two of them six feet four inches. The wonderful air and outdoor life of Washington evidently are turning out a crop of big Americans. To have five candidates for the crew in one university all over six feet tall, running up to six feet four and six feet six, is an interesting change in the American "average."

However, those that are shorter, no matter how short, need not worry. Napoleon Bonaparte would have come barely to the shoulder of the smallest of these men, not much above the elbow of the tallest. BUT HE DID VERY WELL.

It is what goes on in the "TOP" layer, between your eyebrows and the top of your skull, that counts. Everything else is less important.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

"I'm sure innocent!"
There's a heart-moving phrase.
We're hearing it often these days.
A girl—a boy—a gathering crowd at some crowded summer—beach or giddy, blood running wild, a night of orgy—disgrace. And then the next day, the faring-off police juke sterial girl, screaming accusation—tried boys before a police judge —an outraged public clamoring for vengeance.
You know the story—part of it
—the part that begins in that word room and ends so often, for the boy behind prison bars. But do you know the other part of the story? There is another part of the story, and it's time all forgot it.
Let's go back to the beginning of it.
Can YOU distinguish a "good girl"
from a "bad one"?
Easy enough to do that in your father's time. Easy as telling a boy from a country? But it's a child and a drink. Bad girls used to be wore flannel nightgowns, had a half, used long perfume, looked out of the corners of their eyes, made a strange man, cooped up, kept womanhood better. Croak distinctions, but they understood, respected that they, adulterous, respectable and getting parties at dinner
"playing a girl with liquor." Good girls didn't. No danger of your dad taking a good girl into a strange room. Good girls didn't go into strange rooms with men.
And that was it.
But now—
Eyes flick with nervous, dark with knowledge at dinner, forward and peering parties at dinner.
Furrows furrow with gin at dinner.

"What are THE MOTHERS
FEELING WHILE THIS IS GOING
ON?" THE MOTHER WHO RAGES
ON THE STREET. HARN IS DOING
DON'T THEY GET THOSE STUM-BLING AT THE MOTHERS AT DAVY?
DON'T THEY SMELL THAT GIN-LADEN HEATH OR SUSPICION?
PHONE PHONIC CALLS!
Sex. From the time they enter their sons they are using sex with every allure and provocation that was ever known to the most abandoned woman. Teasing—laughing—tempting—And then some night unprovoked—sex maddened—her
"litter" is called—and the thing happens.
Is that assured Innocence?
And if it was indeed that Innocence? The Girl Herself? The Boy?
The Mother? You and I who person these things?

THE Shaler Public Library will soon receive a loan from the fund established by the estate of Mrs. Delphine P. Corey. Two separate lots of 2,000 each were bequeathed by Mrs. Corey, one for fiction and the other for general literature.
The remainder of the fund, amounting to $60,000 will be used as a maintenance reserve.

Rev. Russell Henry Stafford, D. D., who recently became minister of the Old South Church, now has a vicarage of the Greater Boston Federation of Churches. This position carries much responsibility and will be a great help in the work of the Federation.
The Rev. Mr. Stafford, who has been minister of the Old South Church since 1904, was born in a drive near Boston. He was educated at Harvard University, where he received his degree in divinity.
The new vicar will live at 100
West Street, near the Old South Church.
